[SEGOVIA, WORLD HERITAGE CITY]

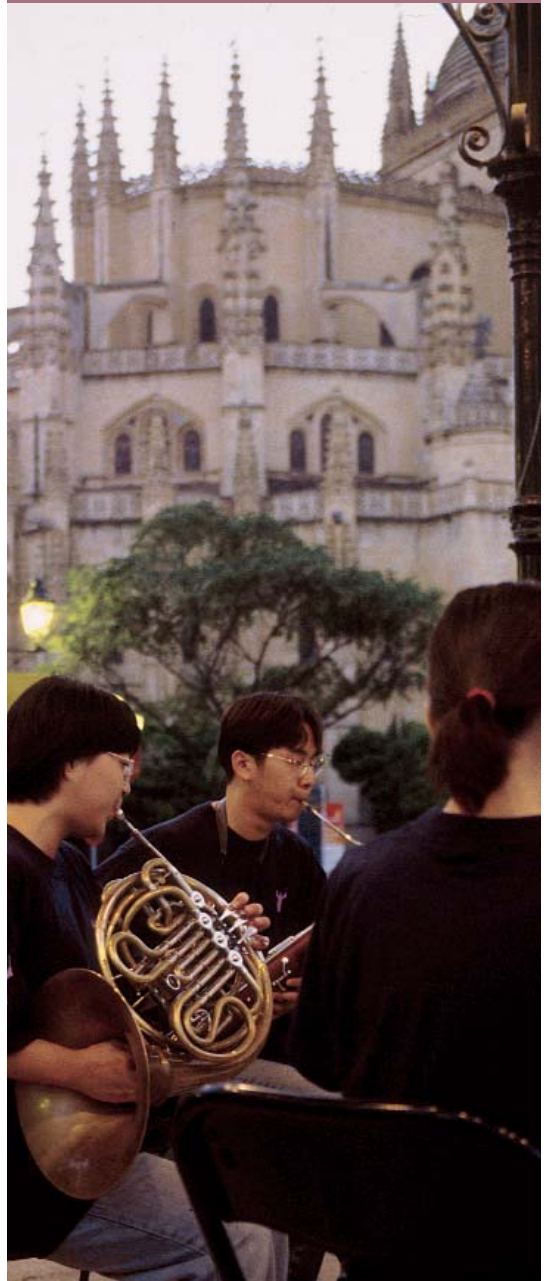

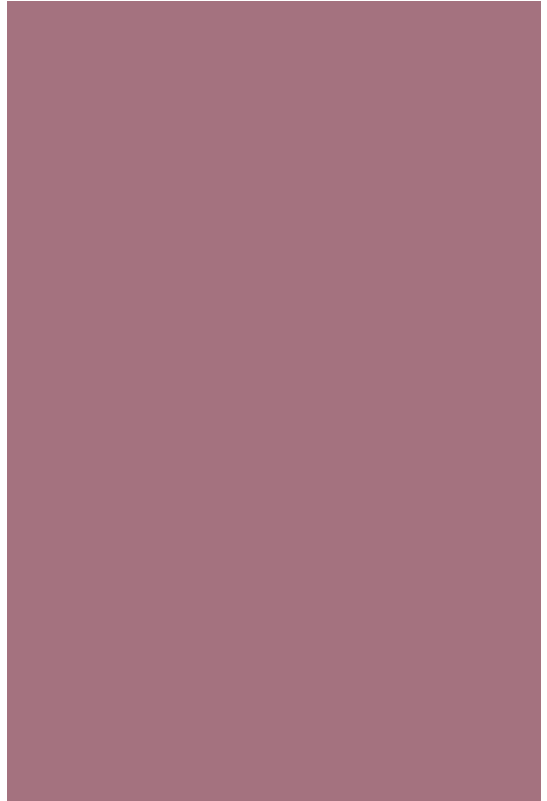

Segovia is an ideal city to accommodate conventions, seminars, and meetings of all types. Along with the many advantages that Segovia offers in every aspect, it is necessary to emphasize the proximity of the nation's capital, Madrid, and the airport which are only 50 minutes drive by motorway, and will soon be at only 20 minutes on board the future high velocity train from Madrid to Segovia to Valladolid. The city possesses a trilogy of fantastic monuments (the Aqueduct, the Cathedral, and the Alcázar) as well as numerous examples of varied architectural styles-especially Romanesque. There is also the charm of the smaller neighbourhoods, all within a few minutes walking distance. Segovia offers an abundant, varied and modern commercial area, conveniently situated near the major bank branches, travel agents, and an ample assortment of hotels and lodgings where the traditional cuisine offered is very appetizing, and other establishments offer a new creative cuisine, “de autor”. The “tapeo” (appetizers) in the numerous bars is in itself a means for rest and conversation.

As a compliment to leisure time, Segovia offers an abundance of cultural activities year round: museums with permanent and temporary exhibitions, cinema, theatre every weekend, classical and contemporary music concerts, as well as special annual events such as the International Music and Dance Festival, the International Folk Festival, the International Puppet Festival (Titirimundi), and a large assortment for all tastes, including the possibility of participating in your favourite sports (horse riding, tennis, hiking, swimming...).

Both the capital city and the province can provide meeting halls of diverse capacity for conferences in many hotels, rural tourism establishments, cultural centres, and other private enterprises. All of these make Segovia an attractive choice for conventions, seminars, and meetings.

As a final compliment, Segovia offers the possibility of brief excursions to the surrounding areas and the option of various tours throughout the province that are full of surprisingly beautiful landscapes and architectural and archaeological works of art.

Art and Culture

[THE RUNNING OF THE BULLS IN CUELLAR,]DECLA-

Encierro de Cuellar

Cultural activities can occupy a large part of the free time that a tourist has in the capital and the province. The annual program is ample and varied, and occupies large spaces of time in practically every season of the year. In Segovia, as well as viewing and contemplating the numerous monuments and typical small neighbourhoods (from Las Canonjías, to Los Caballeros, to La Judería, to San Lorenzo...), an elevated amount of high quality cultural attractions is also offered. Using only names, without trying to explain them in full, several festivals stand out-The National Festival, Folk Segovia, The International Dance Festival (Esteva), The International Puppet Theatre Festival (Titirimundi), The Chamber Music Week, Easter Week, nights of music in the atrium of the church in San Lorenzo, book and artisan fairs, etc... One cannot forget the frequent concerts of the Philharmonic Society and other musical groups, theatrical representations, and literary encounters...

The province also offers other similar attractions, such as the famous and ancestral running of the bulls in Cuellar, the Folkuéllar Festival, the annual Candlelit Concerts in Pedraza, the celebration of Saint Águeda in Zamarramala a festival of bargemen in El Espinar, the International Open of hard court tennis in La Estación del El Espinar, the waterworks of the fountains in the Royal Gardens of La Granja... we'll stop there so as not to overwhelm, but a visitor to Segovia can find many informative brochures that tell of everything that may attract their attention. We also cannot forget visits to the Los Enebralejos cave in Prádena, the Navafira Drop Hammer, the antique toy museum in Sepúlveda, the Contemporary Art Museum in Ayllón, etc...

Gastronomy

Our land has always produced indigenous natural products of high quality. Our loaves of bread are elaborated with flour from our fields. Meat comes from poultry from our farms, from the herds of sheep and goats in our mountains, from pigs offering a multitude of products and the wonderful suckling pig (which quite recently has obtained the mark of quality “Cochinillo de Segovia”); and from highland cows that give abundant milk and dairy products. Legumes and vegetables come from our gardens and farms, and some of our fish, like the exquisite trout, come from highland rivers.

All of this, complimented by classic desserts—the traditional ponche (cinnamon cake with sweet liqueur), the “florones” for weddings and parties, the “natillas” (custard) with beaten eggs sprinkled with icing sugar for other festivals, the “arroz con leche” (rice pudding) and the Segovian pastries, form the basis of our traditional cuisine which is healthy, simple, and which is worthy of its fame at home and abroad, and is widely approved among travellers, tourists, and visitors from a wide range of countries and backgrounds. The most notable traditional Segovian dishes are the Castillian garlic soup made with bread, egg and chorizo; large, white La Granja beans; Castillian stew (with chick peas and meat); cured meats; pickles; trout with ham; fried breaded frog’s legs; crayfish; suckling pig roasted in a wood-burning stove, roast lamb, highland stew, braised partridge, and stews with poultry and game.

Though there are many places in the province where these dishes can be sampled, the most notable are Torrecaballeros, Pedraza, Sepúlveda, Prádena, Riaza, Sotosalbos, Turégano, Valsaín, and Villacastín.

Nature and sport

The province of Segovia offers a variety of landscapes and impressively beautiful spots, as well as a diverse range of villages and hamlets. These include the Guadarrama, Somosierra and Ayllón mountain ranges, pine forests and the canyons of the Duratón and Riaza rivers.

These lands are traversed by ancient sheep herding and cattle tracks, recondite and mysterious corners, magnificent contrasts of colours and villages whose abundant plant and ecological diversity are the source of a great natural and cultural richness.

Throughout the province – organised by specialist enterprises – one may enjoy country excursions, environmental trails, horse treks, climbing, canoeing, skiing, mountain biking, motorless flying, hiking etc which allows a better knowledge and understanding of our natural environment.
